

Greetings

I am much obliged to you for considering me highly.

I would like to ask you to express your hard work due the effects of this new coronavirus outbreak. I would like to express my sympathy.

To myself, I retired from the Yomiuri Nippon Symphony Orchestra, where I had worked for 23 years in June last year, and then worked as outsourcing to the Association of Japanese Orchestra, and established a Limited Liability Company in December. It became such a state of emergency in January. Due to the nature of the music office, it was an industry that required self-restraint very strongly, and the large-scale projects I produced and the sponsoring projects I was going to help were all canceled. However, since I am initially determined that there will be almost no income in fiscal 2020, I have decided that our work will be cancelled, but if I think that I didn't do it originally, I will not feel sad and we have switched our feelings to preparations for 2021.

I hope that this beautiful Japan will be able to return to a peaceful country full of music as soon as possible.

Now that we can't see the future yet, please spend your time with your health.

Sincerely yours,

Yutaka Egami
